The film was a critical and commercial success, grossing over $64 million worldwide against a production budget of $11 million. It was nominated for two Academy Awards, including Best Picture, and won the Academy Award for Best Supporting Actress for Tomei.

My Cousin Vinny has been praised for its humor, its heartwarming story, and its strong performances. Pesci and Tomei are both particularly excellent, and their chemistry on screen is electric. The film is also notable for its use of authentic Alabama locations and characters, which gives it a unique sense of realism.

Plot

My Cousin Vinny tells the story of Vinny Gambini, a New York City lawyer who travels to Alabama to defend his cousin, Billy, who has been accused of murdering a store clerk. Vinny is a brash and inexperienced lawyer, but he is determined to prove Billy's innocence.

As Vinny investigates the case, he uncovers a number of inconsistencies in the prosecution's story. He also learns that Billy is being framed by the local police, who are trying to cover up their own involvement in the crime.

With the help of his fiancée, Mona Lisa Vito, Vinny is able to expose the truth and prove Billy's innocence. In the process, he also learns a valuable lesson about the importance of justice.

Characters

- Vinny Gambini (Joe Pesci) is a New York City lawyer who travels to Alabama to defend his cousin, Billy. Vinny is a brash and inexperienced lawyer, but he is determined to prove Billy's innocence.
- Mona Lisa Vito (Marisa Tomei) is Vinny's fiancée. Mona Lisa is a sharp and intelligent woman who helps Vinny investigate the case.
- Billy Gambini (Ralph Macchio) is Vinny's cousin. Billy has been accused of murdering a store clerk. Billy is a kind and gentle man, but he is also very naive.
- Judge Chamberlain Haller (Lane Smith) is the judge presiding over Billy's trial. Judge Haller is a fair and impartial judge, but he is also very strict.

- Jim Trotter (Bruce McGill) is the prosecutor in Billy's trial. Trotter is a ruthless and ambitious prosecutor who is determined to convict Billy, regardless of the evidence.
- Stan Rothenstein (Mitchell Whitfield) is Billy's friend and alibi. Stan is a simple and honest man, but he is also very nervous about testifying in court.
- Dr. Wilbur Wright (Fred Gwynne) is the medical examiner who performed the autopsy on the victim. Dr. Wright is a quirky and eccentric man, but he is also very knowledgeable about his field.

Themes

My Cousin Vinny explores a number of themes, including the importance of justice, the power of family, and the value of perseverance.

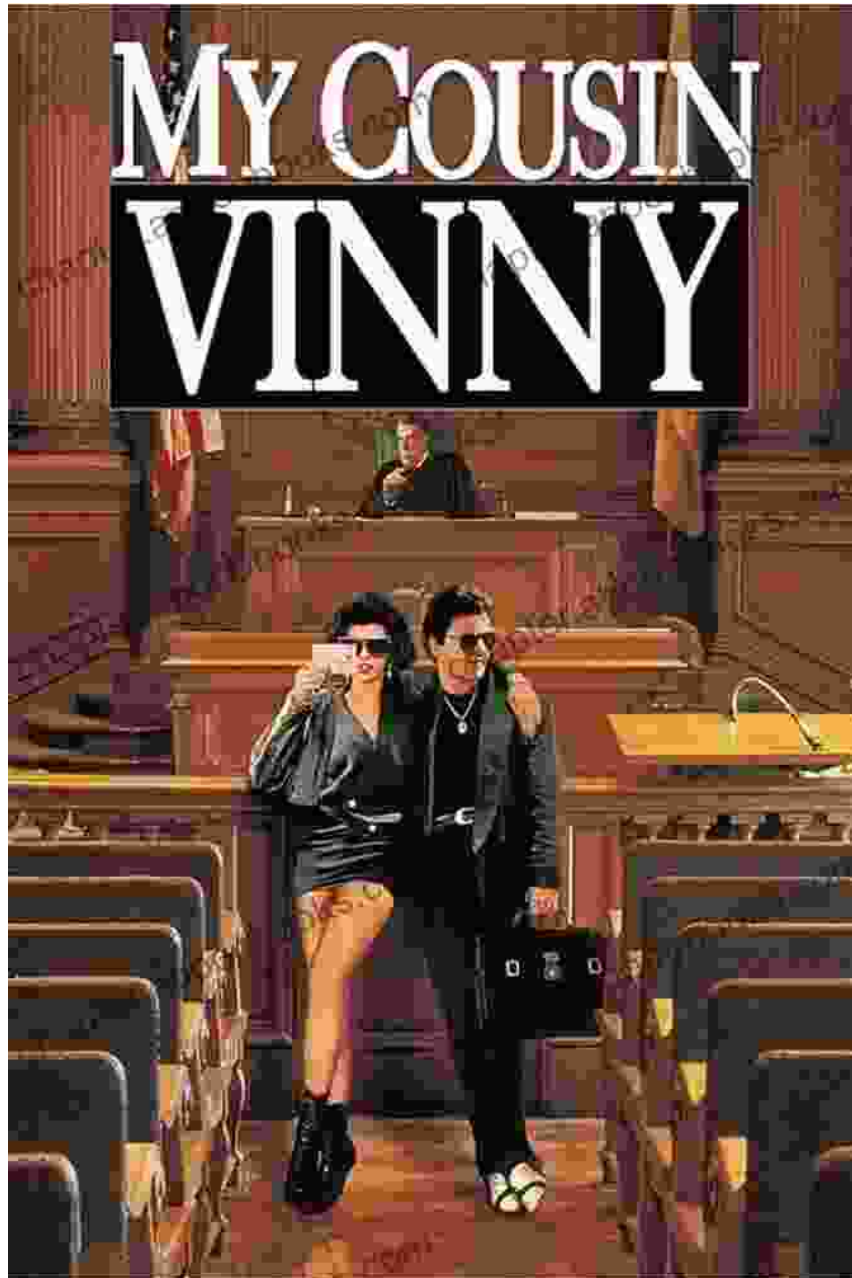

The film's most important theme is the importance of justice. Vinny is determined to prove Billy's innocence, even though all the evidence seems to be against him. He believes that everyone deserves a fair trial, and he is willing to fight for what is right.

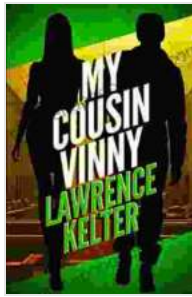

The film also explores the power of family. Vinny and Mona Lisa are a close-knit couple, and they are both willing to do whatever it takes to help Billy. They believe in him, and they are determined to see him through this difficult time.

Finally, the film explores the value of perseverance. Vinny never gives up on Billy, even when the odds seem insurmountable. He believes in Billy's innocence, and he is determined to prove it. His perseverance pays off in the end, and Billy is eventually acquitted of all charges.
