

Women of Influence: Ten Extraordinary IAS Careers

The Indian Administrative Service (IAS) is one of the most prestigious civil services in the world. IAS officers play a vital role in the development of India, and they have a wide range of responsibilities, including managing districts, implementing government policies, and providing services to the public.

Women of Influence: Ten Extraordinary IAS careers

by M Never

★★★★☆ 4.7 out of 5

Language : English
File size : 1687 KB
Text-to-Speech : Enabled
Screen Reader : Supported
Enhanced typesetting : Enabled
Word Wise : Enabled
Print length : 218 pages

Women have been serving in the IAS since 1955, and they have made significant contributions to the development of India. In this article, we profile ten extraordinary women who have served in the IAS. These women have broken barriers, overcome challenges, and made a difference in the lives of millions of people.

1. Kiran Bedi

Kiran Bedi is the first woman to join the Indian Police Service (IPS). She has served as the Director General of Police of Chandigarh and Delhi, and she is currently the Lieutenant Governor of Puducherry.

Bedi is a fearless and outspoken officer who has fought for justice and equality throughout her career. She has been a vocal critic of corruption and violence against women, and she has worked tirelessly to improve the lives of the poor and marginalized.

2. Aruna Roy

Aruna Roy is the founder of the Mazdoor Kisan Shakti Sangathan (MKSS), a non-profit organization that works to empower the poor and marginalized in India.

Roy is a tireless advocate for social justice, and she has worked for decades to improve the lives of the poor and marginalized. She has been instrumental in the passage of several laws that protect the rights of the poor, and she has helped to empower millions of people to lift themselves out of poverty.

3. Mira Nair

Mira Nair is an Indian-American film director who has won numerous awards for her work. She is best known for films such as "Salaam Bombay!" and "Monsoon Wedding."

Nair's films often explore the lives of women and children in India, and she has been praised for her sensitivity and her ability to tell powerful stories. She is an inspiration to women around the world, and she has used her platform to speak out on important social issues.

4. Anita Bose Pfaff

Anita Bose Pfaff is the daughter of Subhas Chandra Bose, one of the most famous freedom fighters in Indian history. She has served as the Director of the Nehru Memorial Museum and Library, and she is currently the President of the India International Centre.

Bose Pfaff is a dedicated advocate for peace and understanding, and she has worked tirelessly to promote dialogue between India and other countries. She is also a strong supporter of women's rights, and she has worked to empower women in India and around the world.

5. Naina Lal Kidwai

Naina Lal Kidwai is the former CEO of HSBC India. She is one of the most successful businesswomen in India, and she has been recognized for her leadership and her commitment to corporate social responsibility.

Kidwai has been a strong advocate for women in business, and she has worked to break down barriers for women in the workplace. She is also a passionate advocate for education, and she has helped to establish several schools and educational programs for underprivileged children.

6. Ela Bhatt

Ela Bhatt is the founder of SEWA, a non-profit organization that works to empower women in India. SEWA provides women with access to credit, training, and other resources that they need to start and grow their own businesses.

Bhatt is a tireless advocate for women's rights, and she has worked for decades to improve the lives of women in India. She is a recipient of the Ramon Magsaysay Award, and she has been recognized as one of the most influential women in the world.

7. Sukhadeo Thorat

Sukhdeo Thorat is the former Chairman of the University Grants Commission. He is a leading expert on education in India, and he has worked tirelessly to improve access to education for all Indians.

Thorat is a strong advocate for social justice, and he has worked to promote the rights of the poor and marginalized. He is a recipient of the Padma Shri, and he is widely respected as one of the most influential educators in India.

8. Urvashi Butalia

Urvashi Butalia is the founder of Kali for Women, a non-profit organization that works to empower women in India. Kali for Women provides women with access to resources and training that they need to improve their lives.

Butalia is a passionate advocate for women's rights, and she has worked for decades to improve the lives of women in India. She is a recipient of the Padma Shri, and she is widely recognized as one of the most influential feminists in India.

9. Amrita Pathak

Amrita Pathak is the former CEO of the National Sample Survey Organization. She is a leading expert on poverty and inequality in India, and she has worked tirelessly to improve the lives of the poor and marginalized.

Pathak is a strong advocate for social justice, and she has worked to promote the rights of the poor and marginalized. She is a recipient of the Padma Shri, and she is widely recognized as one of the most influential statisticians in India.

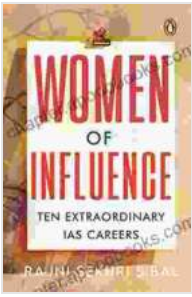

10. Rina Panigrahi

Rina Panigrahi is the former Chief Secretary of Odisha. She is a leading expert on public administration in India, and she has worked tirelessly to improve the lives of the poor and marginalized.

Panigrahi is a strong advocate for good governance, and she has worked to promote transparency and accountability in government. She is a recipient of the Padma Shri, and she is widely recognized as one of the most influential public administrators in India.

These ten women are just a few of the many extraordinary women who have served in the Indian Administrative Service. These women have broken barriers, overcome challenges, and made a difference in the lives of millions of people. They are an inspiration to us all, and they remind us that anything is possible if we set our minds to it.

Women of Influence: Ten Extraordinary IAS careers

by M Never

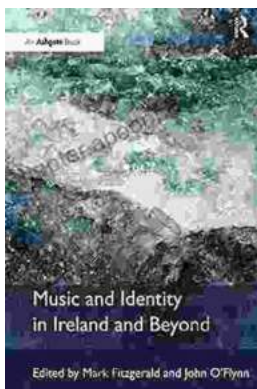

★★★★☆ 4.7 out of 5

Language : English
File size : 1687 KB
Text-to-Speech : Enabled
Screen Reader : Supported
Enhanced typesetting : Enabled
Word Wise : Enabled
Print length : 218 pages

Terrorist Events Worldwide 2024: A Comprehensive Guide to Global Terrorism

Terrorism is a global threat that affects all corners of the world. In recent years, the number of terrorist attacks has increased dramatically, and the threat is only...

Music and Identity in Ireland and Beyond: A Journey into the Heart of a Nation

Music: The Rhythm of Irish Identity In the tapestry of nations, music plays an intricate role in weaving the...